1. Using a gentle heating device such as a blow dryer, warm the mouthpiece until it begins to feel soft.

2. Simply press the flat side of the beeswax on the end of the didgeridoo to achieve a proper fit.

3. Pull the mouthpiece down around the didgeridoo to make sure the playing surface is completely covered.

4. After it is in place, create a firm seal by forming the edge of the beeswax to the surface of your instrument.
